Description

The specification currently doesn't have any references to anything except the numbers of some 3GPP specs.

I think it would be good to have references to other relevant articles / literature, for example on the location privacy weaknesses of 2G to 4G, the attacks people have published, etc.