ability to start a process in the network namespace

After creating a new tunnel with its tun device and a netns, the test may want to start a process within that namespace. As osmo-uecups-daemon can run on a different machine, this process start needs to be serialized through the UECUPS socket.